WARNING:

Petitioner/applicant is cautioned to avoid submitting personal information in documents filed in a patent application that may contribute to identity theft. Personal information such as social security numbers, bank account numbers, or credit card numbers (other than a check or credit card authorization form PTO-2038 submitted for payment purposes) is never required by the USPTO to support a petition or an application. If this type of personal information is included in documents submitted to the USPTO, petitioners/applicants should consider redacting such personal information from the documents before submitting them to the USPTO. Petitioner/applicant is advised that the record of a patent application is available to the public after publication of the application (unless a non-publication request in compliance with 37 CFR 1.213(a) is made in the application) or issuance of a patent. Furthermore, the record from an abandoned application may also be available to the public if the application is referenced in a published application or an issued patent (see 37 CFR 1.14). Checks and credit card authorization forms PTO-2038 submitted for payment purposes are not retained in the application file and therefore are not publicly available.

Petition to Revive

Sir,

Thank you for your response dated September 26, 2005. Being a small entity and not familiar with the processes and procedures required in patenting and invention, I greatly appreciate the effort to provide assistance. In view of the previous correspondence, please accept this petition to revive an application for patent that was unavoidably abandoned. Due to the timing of the mailings, deliveries of the mail services, unfamiliarity with the rules, regulations and processes which slowed the response time, uncertainty of what appeared to be conflicting information, and the formulation of a response required to answer the request for additional information as per cited regulations, the reply to meet the shortened statutory period for reply was unavoidably delayed.

As per the latest correspondence I hereby petition to revive this patent and provide the following for unavoidable abandonment as per (37 CFR 1.137(a)).

1. A small entity petition fee in the amount of $250 has been included.
2. A reply for unavoidable abandonment has been supplied above and a fee has been included as requested. If the reply is sufficient to reinstate the processes and the fee is not required at this time, the fee can be applied to any future required payments.
3. Since this application was filed after June 8, 1995, no terminal disclaimer is required.

4. A showing of the cause for the unavoidable delay has been included above and a petition for 37 CFR 1.137(a) has been included.

In addition, as per the request for original election, I have also selected Group I for apparatus and have attached a revised patent application that deletes Group II items for method. Also attached is an amended claims section with the word "original" located after each claim number. If this is a requirement for this resubmission, please use this version. There were no claims added or changed. The only claims deleted were in relation to the removed method claims.

Thank you for your consideration and help in this matter. If any other information is required, please do not hesitate to contact me via e-mail at bforsberg@mchsi.com, bruce.w.forsberg@usace.army.mil, the address on file, or at 256-828-6711.

Respectfully submitted

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. (Original) An apparatus for trimming candle wicks comprising:
 - A means of vertically trimming a candle wick
 - A means of candle wick clipping removal from the immediate surroundings of the candle or container
 - A means to hold multiple candle wick clippings in the instrument
2. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a cutting devise and a backing pad upon which to produce a cutting or trim plane.
3. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a dual opposing cutting devise surface
4. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a scissor like action or reverse scissors like action.
5. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a loop type cutting tool.
6. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a tweezers like action.
7. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a pocket to hold the wick clipping or multiple wick clippings.
8. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein a means of suction is used to vacuum the wick clipping to a holding pocket so that more wicks can be trimmed prior to discard.
9. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a manual tilt ability to be able to move the NUB to the holding pocket by gravity for multiple NUB collection.
10. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the unit is fabricated of metal, glass, ceramic, plastic, of other and combinations of these or like items.

11. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has a length to trim the wick per candle manufacturers established distance above the cooled wax surface of the candle.

12. (Original) The apparatus of claim 1, wherein the instrument has an adjustable length to trim the wick to the operator preferred distance above the cooled wax surface of the candle.
